Send messages from a website to a mobile phone

A time before smart phones: I wanted someone (ex. my parents) to be able to send me a text message from their desktop.

www.MessageMyPhone.com

2008 - 2017

How this site works:

- >> You sign up (for free)
- >> You get a website (ex. <http://www.MessageMyPhone.com/UserName>) [Sample]
- >> You give the website to a friend
- >> The friend goes to the website
- >> The friend types in his or her name and a message, hits the "send" button
- >> You receive the message on your cell phone
  - >> If your friend inserts an e-mail address, you can reply

How much does it cost?

- >> There is no fee to send a message
- >> Your cell phone service provider may charge you for receiving a message

Why should I use this service?

- >> Have people message you without having to remember your phone number or provider
- >> Messaging on a computer keyboard is more convenient than using a phone pad
- >> When you want to be reached but are unable to answer phone calls (ex. class, work, etc.)
- >> Text messages are faster to check than voicemails
